More about CoTradeCo

A new time trading post & community.

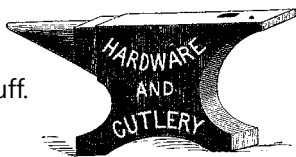

Folks heading west for gold and a new life stopped at trading posts to get supplies, sell and trade wares, and get information about home, the trail ahead, and anything interesting in the area.

CoTradeCo revives the spirit of the old time trading post.

Bringing people together.
Exchanging information and stuff.
A trading post.

People working together.

CoTradeCo is a registered veteran owned small business serving the public, business, and the public sector. Trader Dan founded the Coachella Valley Trading, Co. (CoTradeCo) in September, 2007.

More than a place to shop or just another social networking site, the trading post is your source for good and services, as well as exchanging news and information from around the world.

Trader Dan & the community want to talk about work, life & play!

What is the trading post?

People & information for success.

Every community has a group blog where everybody is welcome to post and comment, and useful links and resources especially for members.

People you can relate to.
Devoted resources for your areas of interest.
Communication and networking hub for like minded individuals. Start a discussion or comment on someone else's.

Discover and share resources and information with the community and the CoTradeCo team.

Easy online shopping in the CoTradeCo trading post custom online store.

Trader Dan wants your online experience to be easy, friendly, and useful like talking to you personally.

Our easy to browse online store has advanced search and navigation features and product selection guides in our resource library.

Find resources on nearly every product listing!

Some sites only show a tiny picture and meager description; Trader Dan insists on as many useful images, videos, manuals, specifications, and related resources we can supply.

Our resource library and communities are also at your disposal to answer questions.

Read and share plogs, customer reviews stories and pictures of products!

Let our sales reps and specialists help.

Our sales reps will demo products onsite at your facility or give you one on one custom service by phone and email.

While based out of California we are growing specialized affiliates and sales reps around the world. Some things are just too specialized to sell directly online. Contact Trader Dan or a sales rep for personal "real world" service.

Whether you need a product demoed or a custom order Trader Dan and the CoTradeCo team will walk and talk you through every step of the process.

- Sample requests
- Setup a business account
- Custom products & design
- Straight talkin' advice
- Suggest business or creative relationships
- Get help with products regardless of where you bought them

Trader Dan will find what you are looking for and get the answers you need or find someone who can!

Wheelin' & dealin'! We're just getting started

CoTradeCo trading post & community is unlike any other store or social network. Trader Dan takes pride in our ability to find custom solutions, make deals, exchange information, and help folks.

Ask Trader Dan

Trader Dan and the CoTradeCo team are here to help you with any question and find any solution. Companies & individuals alike use CoTradeCo because we listen and care. Ask Trader Dan anything.

Deals, contests, and discounts

We reward trading post visitors and community members. Trader Dan always has contests and deals and community members can discover secret deals on the site.

Community interaction and information are key to the trading post!

Promote yourself, your business, and your ideas through our community!

Price match guarantee

We always do our best to meet or beat competitive prices whenever we can, without starting a price war. But this is a trading post and we like wheelin' and dealin'.

Custom support and service

We are building a vast network of information, people, resources, vendors, and products. Use the trading post to find answers and get help. Between the CoTradeCo team and our community members solutions are never far away.

Call 866-530-4804 or email traderdan@cotradeco.com

Get your own SPOT

Like a space, profile, or mini-webpage, every community member gets their own SPOT to share and promote whatever they like. Easy friend and professional networking with folks you know you have something in common.

Sales and dealer opportunities

Become a CoTradeCo sales rep, dealer, or affiliate and make extra cash or expand and existing business.

New company. Fresh ideas.

CoTradeCo is constantly evolving and improving everyday. We listen to our customers and community members and build our business around you.

Guest blogging

Our new guest blogger program provides information from specialists in various fields and interests to our community, as well as providing you and your organization a chance to promote and share information.

Plogs.

Beyond customer reviews.

We like your product reviews, but we love seeing and hearing how you use the products we sell. Our Plogs are product logs from community members sharing information, stories, and pictures of them using their stuff. We don't even care if you bought it from us.

Overnight orders, custom printing, cutting, & design available for many
